

Incubator seeks artists for juried art show

Posted: Tuesday, August 16, 2016 4:00 pm

BELOIT — The Beloit Fine Arts Incubator is seeking artists to participate in their annual juried art show held each November. This year's theme is "Weather."

The show will feature both two- and three-dimensional works. Cash prizes of $150, $100 and $50 will be awarded to the top three artists.

For information on how to enter the show, and guidelines, visit the BFAI website at Beloitfineartsincubator.com or stop at the incubator, located at 520 E. Grand Ave. in downtown Beloit, to pick up an entry blank.

This year's judge is well-known artist Dan Wuthrich. The deadline to enter artwork is Oct. 3.