

ADVERTISEMENT

Powerhouse Riverwalk opens to the public

Beloit Powerhouse Riverwalk (City of Beloit)

By Nick Viviani

Published: Nov. 25, 2020 at 4:33 PM CST

BELOIT, Wis. (WMTV) - Beloit's Powerhouse Riverwalk isn't quite done yet, but it is ready for the public.

On Wednesday, the city announced people could start using the 850-foot path along Pleasant Street that links downtown Beloit and Riverside Park.

City officials described it as "transform(ing) a sidewalk... into a well-lit concrete path and bridge structure along the edge of the Rock River."

It is right next to the Beloit Powerhouse, a combined student and community center, that Beloit College is creating using an old Alliant Energy/WPL power plant.

ADVERTISEMENT

City leaders are planning a ribbon cutting at a later date to mark the opening.

Beloit Powerhouse Riverwalk (City of Beloit)

Copyright 2020 WMTV. All rights reserved.